Grade 1 — Cash to Company: Marketing Pack

Year theme: Businesses make things or do things Band: K-2 · Audience layers: 1st-grader · parent/caregiver · teacher · admin Owner: Brand & SMM (Camille)

3-line elevator pitch

"Cash to Company first grade teaches your 6-year-old that there are two kinds of businesses: ones that MAKE a thing (cookies, bracelets) and ones that DO a thing (dog walking, lawn mowing). We add four coins, simple promises, and a Classroom Store. Year 2 of a continuous K-12 mascot arc — gentle, evidence-based, no 'you can be rich' talk — ever."

What this is

Cash to Company is a K-12 program. Cash (a friendly, gender-neutral coin) hosts. The year-long question: "Which people, and how do you know?"

What first grade covers

- Make or Do — businesses that make things vs. businesses that do things.
- Counting coins — the four coins, learning to combine them up to $1.
- Steps in order — first, next, then, last.
- A promise kept — small promises and finishing them.
- The Classroom Store — a pretend store with simple roles.

What you'll hear at the dinner table

- "That's a MAKE business. That's a DO business."
- "More dots, more worth."
- "A promise is a kind sentence with a finish."

The promise (what we won't do)

- We never ask your child about your family's money.
- We never tell your child anyone is guaranteed to get rich.
- We treat first grade like first grade — gentle, repetitive, visual.

What to say when your kid asks...

Your kid says	You can say
"Are we rich?"	"That's a grown-up question. I'm proud you're thinking about it."
"How much do you spend on groceries?"	"That's a grown-up question. Want to count the coins in the jar instead?"
"Why is the dime worth more than the nickel?"	"What did Cash say?" (Then listen.)

One easy thing this month

Around the house, point at things and ask: "Is this a make business or a do business?" (A pizza delivery: a make-AND-do.)

CASH SAYS

Tell me what they said with their words.

Year in 5 sentences

First grade builds on the K idea that businesses are helpers and adds the Make/Do sort. Across 36 weeks, students learn the four coins, how coins make a dollar, simple sequencing, kept promises, and run a 5-day Classroom Store. Eight 2:00–3:00 minute Cash videos drive the spine. The Capstone is Family Visit Day — students show one make-or-do business they imagined. Sensitivity policy holds: no family money questions.

Helpers are everywhere. Each one is a kind of business.

Standards we hit

- CCSS-Math.1.NBT.B.2 (place value), 1.MD.B.3 (telling time, ordering)
- CCSS-ELA.SL.1.1 (collaborative discussions)
- C3.D2.Eco.K-2.1 (scarcity & decisions, gentle)
- CASEL: Self-Awareness, Responsible Decision-Making

Weekly rhythm

- Monday — Cash + Question (5 min)
- Tuesday/Thursday — Vocabulary & Helper Wall (5 min each)
- Wednesday — Activity Block (15-20 min)
- Friday — Show & Share (10 min)

The 8 Cash-video classroom CTAs

1. V1 (W1) Make-or-Do sort — 6 picture cards.
2. V2 (W7) Needs walk — point at one need each.
3. V3 (W10) Coin counting — pairs count to 25.
4. V4 (W14) Pretend-store enough/not-enough.
5. V5 (W19) Sequence cards — 4 in order.
6. V6 (W23) Tiny promises kept by tomorrow.
7. V7 (W28) Open Classroom Store for 5 minutes.
8. V8 (W36) Family Visit Day — show your make-or-do.

What to say when a student says...

Student says	Teacher's response
"I don't know any businesses."	"Who delivered your mail today? Who made the pizza? Both are businesses."
"We can't afford that at my house."	"This year we don't talk about home money. We talk about the coins on the carpet."
"Cash got it wrong!" (after the Cash fumble video)	"Yes! Cash made a mistake. What's the right answer?"

CASH SAYS

Notice, notice, notice. What did you see?

Admin pitch outline

1. Outcomes: by year-end, every G1 student can sort a list of businesses into MAKE/DO categories, identify and combine 4 coins, sequence a 4-step process, and demonstrate a kept-promise behavior contract.
2. Standards alignment: CCSS-Math.1.NBT.B.2, 1.MD.B.3, CCSS-ELA.SL.1.1, C3.D2.Eco.K-2.1, CASEL Self-Awareness.
3. Equity: no family-money questions; printable on standard paper; gender-neutral mascot; equity-by-design.
4. Evidence: Pre/post pilot Fall 2026 (Jump$tart-K developmental + qualitative). UbD + Workshop Model evidence-based.
5. Differentiator: One continuous mascot from K through 12 — the only K-12 entrepreneurship arc with a Capstone every year. JA is volunteer-coordinated and event-shaped; we are routine-shaped (Monday opener, every week). EVERFI is sponsor-funded; we have no sponsor.

Kid-direct (parent-facilitated)

1. "Notice with me. My first-grader just sorted our entire kitchen into 'make' or 'do' businesses. The pizza place is BOTH. Mind blown. Tag your tiny logician." + V1 Short.
2. "4 quarters = 1 dollar. So does 10 dimes. So does 100 pennies. My 6-year-old is on the rug counting. Cash to Company strikes again." + V3 Short.

3. "A 'kept promise' challenge from school: bring back a tiny promise tomorrow. We picked feeding the dog. Reporting back." + classroom note.

Parent-direct

1. "The K-12 financial-literacy curriculum I picked for my kid actually says, in writing: 'we will never ask your child about your family's money.' That's the program." + parent guide screenshot.
2. "First grade now: dog walkers are a 'do' business. Bakers are a 'make' business. The pizza place is both. K-12 curriculum, one mascot. Their mascot is a coin."
3. "Looking for non-hustle financial literacy for K-2? Cash to Company. Run by an actual K-12 curriculum team. Cash never says 'crush it.' I checked."

Teacher-direct

1. "My first grade just sorted 12 picture cards into MAKE / DO in under three minutes. Cash to Company V1 is paying off. The 5-min CTA is the unlock." + classroom photo.
2. "Cash to Company G1 = my new Monday-morning anchor. 2-minute video, 5-minute CTA, then we move on. Routines, not heroics."
3. "The Cash 'NEVER says' list is the brand-discipline document I wish every K-12 publisher had. Pinned to my classroom wall."
