
GRADE K

Marketing Pack

C A S H

Businesses help people.

Parent, teacher, and admin briefs in one place.

Grade K — Cash to Company: Marketing Pack

Year theme: Businesses help people Band: K-2 · Audience layers: kindergarten student · parent/caregiver · teacher · principal/PreK-2 administrator Owner: Brand & SMM (Camille)

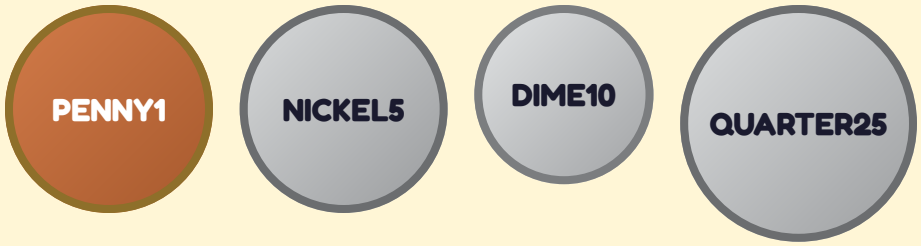
3-line elevator pitch

"Cash to Company kindergarten teaches your 5-year-old to notice helpers — the librarian, the bus driver, the cook — and that helpers are a kind of business. We never tell kids 'you can be rich.' We teach them to be a clearer thinker about how the world works. Year 1 of a continuous K-12 mascot arc, classroom-tested, and gentle enough for your living-room couch."



CASH SAYS

What comes first? What comes next?

Parent-facing one-pager (the fridge magnet)

What this is

Cash to Company is a K-12 entrepreneurship + money-thinking program with one host: Cash, a friendly coin who asks one question for thirteen years — "Which people, and how do you know?"

What kindergarten covers

- Helpers — your kid will notice and name helpers in your community.
- Four coins — penny, nickel, dime, quarter.
- First / next / last — putting things in order.
- Cash's Cafe — taking turns with kind words.

What you'll hear at the dinner table

- "The dime is small but it's worth more than the nickel. I know. It's funny."
- "That's a helper."
- "Notice with me."

The promise (and what we won't do)

- We never ask your child about your family's money.
- We never tell your child anyone is guaranteed to get rich.
- We don't push your child to start a business.
- We do teach them to be a clearer thinker about how the world works — no matter what they end up doing.

What to say when your kid asks...

Your kid says	You can say
"Are we rich?"	"That's a grown-up question. I'm proud you're thinking about it."
"How much do you make?"	"That's a grown-up question. Want me to show you what a quarter is worth?"
"Why did Cash say being wrong is the deal?"	"What do you think Cash meant?"

One easy thing you can do

On a car ride or at dinner, ask: "Who helped you today?" Listen more than you speak.

CASH SAYS

Tell me what they said with their words.

Teacher-facing one-pager

Year in 5 sentences

Cash to Company kindergarten anchors on one big idea: businesses are helpers. Across 36 weeks, students notice community helpers (Unit 1), meet the four coins (Unit 2), put things in order (Unit 3), and run "Cash's Cafe" — a pretend store with three rotating jobs (Unit 4). Eight 1:30–2:00 minute Cash videos (Mondays) carry the spine. The Capstone is a Family Visit Day where students show one helper they noticed and play one round of Cash's Cafe with a grown-up. No family-money questions, ever.

Helpers are everywhere. Each one is a kind of business.

Standards we hit

- CCSS-ELA.SL.K.1 — collaborative conversations about kindergarten topics
- CCSS-Math.K.MD.A.2 — direct comparison (which is more)
- C3.D2.Eco.K-2.1 — explain how scarcity necessitates decision-making (gentle, hypothetical)
- CASEL: Self-Awareness, Social Awareness — naming helpers and feelings

Weekly rhythm

- Monday — Cash + the Question (5 min): play the week's video; ask "who helped you today?"
- Tuesday/Thursday — Helpers Wall (5 min): students add a helper drawing or sticker.
- Wednesday — Activity Block (15 min): one tactile activity from the Activity Book.
- Friday — Show + Share (10 min): one student shares a helper.

The 8 Cash-video classroom CTAs (5–8 min each)

1. V1 (W1): "Three. Two. One. Tell a partner one helper. Go."
2. V2 (W5): Picture cards — name the verb. "The cook ____."
3. V3 (W10): Sorting mat. Three-two-one, sort the four coins.
4. V4 (W14): Two-coin "more" race in pairs.
5. V5 (W19): Three-step body sequence — first hands on head, next on knees, last clap.
6. V6 (W25): Safety walk — point at any helper picture, name the rule.
7. V7 (W28): Open Cash's Cafe corner. Three roles, rotate every 90 sec.
8. V8 (W36): Family Visit Day. One helper drawing, one coin shown, one cafe round.

What to say when a student says...

Student says	Teacher's response
"I don't have a helper at home."	"Helpers can be anywhere. The librarian is a helper. The bus driver is a helper. Pick one you saw today."
"My family doesn't have any money."	"This year we don't talk about family money. We talk about coins on the carpet. Want to find a quarter?"
"Is Cash a boy or a girl?"	"Cash is a coin. Cash is a friend." (gender-neutral by design)

Materials needed

- Helpers Wall poster (printable)
- Sorting mat for 4 coins (printable)
- Cash's Cafe printable
- Pretend coins (any kindergarten classroom set)

CASH SAYS

Notice, notice, notice. What did you see?

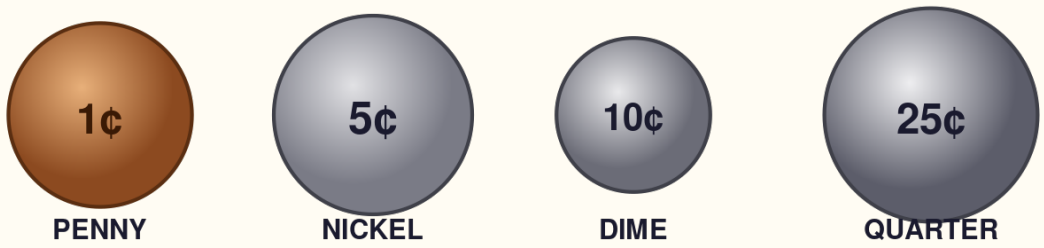
Administrator pitch outline (5 bullets — paste into a board memo)

1. Outcomes: by year-end, every Grade K student can name 3 community helpers, identify the 4 US coins by name and value, sequence a 3-step process, and demonstrate turn-taking in a structured pretend-store activity.
2. Standards alignment: CCSS-ELA.SL.K.1 · CCSS-Math.K.MD.A.2 · C3.D2.Eco.K-2.1 · CASEL Self-Awareness/Social Awareness · supports state financial-literacy mandates that begin in PreK-2 (currently 6 states).
3. Equity: Sensitivity policy explicitly forbids family-money questions. All materials printable on standard paper. Cash is a gender-neutral, race-neutral mascot. Designed for Title-I-friendly delivery, equity-by-design.
4. Evidence: Pre/post pilot data planned Fall 2026 (Jump$tart-K developmental scale + qualitative parent survey). Pedagogy bones (UbD, Workshop Model) are evidence-based.
5. Differentiator: The only K-12 entrepreneurship program with one continuous mascot from kindergarten through twelfth grade. JA gives a day; we give the 13-year arc. EVERFI is sponsor-funded; we have no sponsor. Outschool is a marketplace; we are one curriculum, one voice. Cash Certified Teacher PD is async, 2-hour, certificate-bearing.

Hashtag bank (15-25)

Always-on: `#CashToCompany` `#LearnWithCash` `#NoticeWithMe` `#CashSays` Parent-direct: `#ParentingTok` `#KindergartenLife` `#KindergartenAtHome` `#ParentTeacherCommunity` `#DinnerTableQuestions` Teacher-direct: `#TeachersOfInstagram`

`#TeachersFollowTeachers` `#KindergartenTeacher` `#KinderTeacher` `#KinderClassroom` `#TeacherTok` `#FinLitForKids` Topical: `#FinancialLiteracy` `#EntrepreneurshipForKids` `#MoneyForKids` `#CommunityHelpers` `#FourCoins`



Penny. Nickel. Dime. Quarter. We say each name out loud.

CASH

Which people, and how do you know?

Sample social posts (3 per audience)

Kid-direct (parent-facilitated, on parent account)

1. "Notice with me. The dime is small. The nickel is bigger. The dime is worth more. Three. Two. One. Find a coin in your house and tell us its name." + the V3 9-sec Short.
2. "Who helped you today? My kindergartener says: the bus driver. (And the librarian. And the cook.) Helpers are a kind of business." + a child's drawing.

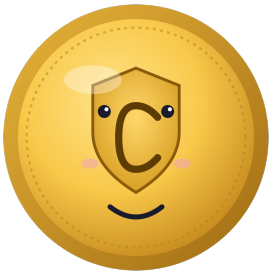
3. "5 helpers in 60 seconds. Can you spot all four coins? Tag your tiny human." + V1 9-sec Short.

Parent-direct

1. "The financial-literacy program I actually let my kid watch: gentle, never says 'you can be rich,' and Cash is a coin. K-12 from one mascot. Wild that this exists." + screenshot of "Cash never says..." card.
2. "Cash to Company will not ask my kid about our family's money. It will ask: who helped you today? That's the program." + parent guide screenshot.
3. "Looking for a non-hustle financial-literacy program for K? Try Cash to Company. Built by an actual K-12 curriculum team. One mascot, all 13 years."

Teacher-direct

1. "My kindergarten Helpers Wall after week 6. We added 14 helpers and learned the four coins. The CTA-per-Cash-video is 5 minutes. Can confirm: routines, not heroics." + classroom photo.
2. "Cash to Company K is the calmest entrepreneurship curriculum I've taught. No screens longer than 2 minutes. No pressure to start a business. The Cash Style Guide alone is a teaching artifact."
3. "Looking for a kinder-friendly Monday opener? The Cash 1:30 video on the four coins has my class chanting penny, nickel, dime, quarter all week." + V3 link.



Which people, and how do you know?

— CASH

CASH TO COMPANY

Which people, and how do you know?

Cash is the friendly coin who helps us notice, ask, and try again. Cash will be with us all year. — Grade K